CUSW CONVENTION

The Convention Experience is now available on Alliance Learning

CUSW Convention 2021

COMMUNITY BUILDING TOGETHER

OCTOBER 1-3 / PORT ELGIN, ON

The CUSW Convention provides Members with an opportunity to come together, learn from each other, and discuss and vote on resolutions for the purpose of strengthening our Constitution.

The COVID-19 pandemic presented obvious challenges which altered the timing of Convention, the logistics, the activities, attendance and more. For these reasons, we are bringing you the 2021 Convention Experience in an online format, to give you a peek inside of how it all unfolded.

The 3-module experience will cover:

1. All About Convention
2. Presentations from the Units, Committees and National Executive Board
3. Resolutions and More

Find the course on Alliance Learning under the Delegates to Convention program or by searching for 'Convention' in the search bar.

COMMITTEE UPDATES

GROWTH & OPPORTUNITY COMMITTEE

CUSW has over 50 employers and close to 4000 members and the need for more skilled trades is required for CUSW's continued growth.

CUSW and CUSW BC continue to grow opportunities for our members building relationships with employers within our traditional work and also building out our all-employee model in the private sector. We have recently established new certifications in Ontario and British Columbia.

CUSW is continuing to build employer relationships throughout Canada. We can now work in Ontario, BC, Alberta, Saskatchewan, and New Brunswick. We have employers moving into Manitoba, PEI, and Nova Scotia and are therefore putting agreements in place for CUSW members to follow their employers.

We have certified several Power Line contractors in Ontario whom can now bid competitively for Utility work using only CUSW contractors. We have also had quite a few small contractors signing with us for Hydro One facilities work.

The Mining Industry is taking off and CUSW has a number of our employers engaged in mining work and bidding on new projects in that sector. We have also been contacted by a number of construction companies bidding mining projects in Canada and they are seeking our skill sets to win those bids.

Our mining agreements cover electrical, mechanical, and civil disciplines. We have language in place in these agreements with camps, flights, and reps on a 2-week in 2-week out schedule. This agreement has also been used to secure maintenance contracts at a mine owner site.

Mining, like power generation, is a primary industry (industries that harvest or extract raw material from nature) and these industries provide the best wages, working conditions, job opportunities, and job security for our members.

The Certification Process

A union can file an application with the Ontario Labour Relations Board (OLRB) requesting to be certified to represent a specific group of employees in a workplace (a proposed bargaining unit). If the union can show they have the support of at least 40% of that group of employees, it can ask the OLRB to conduct an official vote.

Once the union files their application and serves it on the employer, the employer has two business days to file its response with the OLRB. The application can be served by fax, courier, or by physically dropping it off at an employer's workplace. Service will be considered effectual even if the owner or supervisor is not present when the documents are served.

Five days after the union's application is filed, the OLRB conducts an official vote of the employees in the proposed bargaining unit. The ultimate outcome is determined by 50% + 1 of the employees who vote.

GROWTH AND OPPORTUNITY COMMITTEE

VALARD ONTARIO WORKPLACE INFO

As we grow, other Unions who cannot respond to changing work methods and the needs of new employers coming to Canada, are trying to restrict our growth and maintain their rigid control from the USA Union bosses.

CUSW is presently fending off the Labourer Union (LIUNA) and the Operating Engineer Union (OEs), from raiding our largest employer, Valard, and removing CUSW as their bargaining agent. They have assigned dozens of organizers in an all-out effort to destroy our agreement with Valard. Neither of these Unions do much, if any, transmission work in the private sector. The Labourers have constantly tried to win over our groundspersons at Hydro One and Valard, however, with their restricted jurisdiction and low rates, they have not interested any of our members. Who wants to work a 50 hour week at straight time?

As a result of their failure to win over CUSW members, they resort to filing jurisdictional disputes, hoping to steal work from our groundspersons in the courts. This approach hasn't worked for them so far and we don't anticipate it working in the future.

CUSW works side by side with all Unions and has never attempted to displace any Union other than the IBEW. These attacks by LIUNA and the OEs is a wake up call for our members and reinforces that our model is the right model. In light of this, we will re-assess the opportunities our model brings and learn from these attacks. They will be the foundation of our approach to keep building and how we can use our knowledge to expand further in the private sector.

Members of CUSW should not forget we left these types of restrictive Unions to build a real Canadian grass roots Union. CUSW welcomes all skilled workers and their voice in our Union, and does not restrict members within an American Building Trades control system model. These Unions can't respond to Industry needs anymore. CUSW was built to address new skills, in new work, in the new economy.

In closing, we need more help by having trained organizers for team offense and team defense. We are also not alone in our efforts anymore. Our vision is shared by our friends and partner Unions in The Confederation of Canadian Unions (CCU). The CCU also supports our effort and we will work with them to build Canadian Unions.

A Joint Statement from the Canadian Union of Skilled Workers (CUSW) and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Construction Council of Ontario (IBEW CCO).

CUSW and the IBEW CCO are issuing this joint statement in the best interests of electrical industry workers in Ontario.

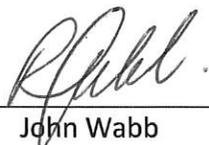

The IBEW Construction Council of Ontario recommends that you vote for the Canadian Union of Skilled Workers in the vote currently being conducted by the Ontario Labour Relations board.

You may have been told that IBEW is part of the Trade Council that is seeking to displace CUSW. This is positively not true and has never been true.

CUSW and the IBEW are the only Construction Unions in Canada building electrical transmission and distribution projects. The future job opportunities in transmission and distribution for you are with CUSW and the IBEW across Canada – not with the civil unions like LIUNA and Operating Engineers who don't construct transmission and distribution infrastructure.

We also want Valard employees to know that while CUSW and IBEW respect each other's independence and autonomy, we have agreed to work closely together in the future to provide more career-building opportunities in the ever-growing electrical industry across Canada.

Cast your vote for Canadian Union of Skilled Workers.

SUCCESS STORIES FROM AROUND CUSW

IHSA AND CAMBRIAN COLLEGE'S PLTN AND LCGS PROGRAMS

CUSW Member Rob Houser (Co-Chair of the CUSW Joint Powerline Technician Committee) has been working with Josh Jamieson and other CUSW members on the recruitment of indigenous members into our union. CUSW provides support to the Cambrian College & IHSA's 16 week pre-apprenticeship training course that is called Line Crew Ground Support (LCGS). The program offers important and relevant certifications, preparing indigenous individuals for the line trade as powerline technicians start off as ground support.

In Sudbury, this program is put on by the IHSA in partnership with Gezhtoojig Employment and Training, while in the Ottawa region the program has been run by IHSA with support from the Congress of Aboriginal Peoples and Kagita Mikam Aboriginal Employment and Training.

There has been growing success for both CUSW and the IHSA as the program has grown into other cities throughout Ontario. The program, which continues to evolve has expanded from 2 original locations at Sudbury's Cambrian College and in Ottawa, to include locations at Walpole Island, Tyendinaga, and Thunder Bay. The program in Thunder Bay has just finished an "all women's Line Crew Ground Support" program.

The partnership with IHSA has been successful, for IHSA to find success with the LCGS program they needed to have their graduates find meaningful employment. Since CUSW has been involved, we have been recruiting graduates and connecting them with work. After the initial experience of hiring 7 ground support graduates with a CUSW employer, when we returned to the same facility the following year, the difference was quite noticeable.

SUCCESS STORIES FROM AROUND CUSW

From Rob "This was clear to me that there was an opportunity to change the perspective for the organizations that are employing the member, by increasing their diversity of employees with qualified individuals. The main thing to me was that we could change the perspective in the indigenous community. When we saw the increased enrollment, including the relatives and friends of previous graduates enroll in the program the following year, we knew they were inspired to find their own success story. This success has a powerful positive impact on the members of the community. Through this program, employers can look at candidates that have completed critical training and understand the importance of health and safety in our industry. Students in the program also demonstrate that they are investing in themselves prior to applying to an apprenticeship or other opportunity, which also speaks volumes to a potential employer."
